Research Experience

Bachelor thesis project, IIT Roorkee

THESIS PROJECT | PROF SANJEEV KUMAR

- Working on the problem of Data-driven simulation using implicit neural representations.
- Tested various baseline models such as DataDreamer, GANCraft for the task.
- Implementing a NeRF based pipeline, taking inspiration from ObjectFolder paper to encode physical properties of objects alongside their visual features.

Sep 2021 - Present

Princeton NLP group

RESEARCH INTERNSHIP | PROF KARTHIK NARASIMHAN

- Working on Long-Horizon Video Understanding, where we are specifically proposing a new dataset consisting of cricket matches with their corresponding natural language commentary.
- The dataset focuses on longer video lengths, upwards of 2 hrs, and contains varied global tasks involved in the sport.
- Involved in the annotation process and also developing specific set of tasks such as NLVL, VQA, etc specifically suited for the dataset.

New Jersey, USA

Oct 2021 - Present

NUS CVML group

RESEARCH INTERNSHIP | PROF ANGELA YAO

- Worked on the task of egocentric hand action recognition, where we propose an egocentric hand actions dataset with three states, 'pre-action', 'action' & 'post-action', labelled.
- The labeling of three states enabled us to propose new tasks such as state modification recognition along with vanilla action recognition.
- Developed the annotation pipeline, and benchmarked the dataset on various baselines like MSG3D, ST-GCN, H+O unified pose estimation, etc.

Singapore

CAIR group, KAUST

RESEARCH INTERNSHIP | PROF MOHAMED ELHOSEINY

Saudi Arabia

May 2020 - Mar 2021

- Proposed two new benchmarks, GQA-LT & VG8K-LT, for solving the problem of long-tail detection in Visual Relationship Recognition(VRR) task.
- Implemented various baselines for the proposed benchmark. Also proposed two novel techniques, RelMix and VilHub, which can be used to improve on tail accuracy for a VRR model.
- A paper for the same is accepted at ICCV 2021. [\[Project Page\]](#)
- Proposed another method for rectifying the long-tail VRR task using a novel RelTransformer architecture along with a memory module. Tested the approach on various baselines and was able to improve upon almost all the models by approx 20% on tail classes.
- A paper for this work is currently under review for CVPR 2022. [\[Arxiv Link\]](#)

LIVIA group, ETS Montreal

RESEACH INTERNSHIP | PROF CHRISTIAN DESROSIER | PROF JOSE DOLZ

Montreal, Canada

May 2019 - July 2019

- Worked on the problem of semi-supervised medical image segmentation
- Developed a new architecture for solving the same inspired by the CycleGAN architecture and tested it on various datasets like VOC, Cityspaces and ACDC. The model was able to improve the previous SOTA models by 2-4% on the said datasets. [\[Arxiv Link\]](#) [\[GitHub Link\]](#).
